Nick Chittenden
LAA Coach

Nick Chittenden started flying in 1988 and joined the then PFA in 1989. He has continuously worked as a professional pilot since 1993 and is currently employed as a training captain. He has owned several LAA aircraft and currently campaigns an Aeronca C3 and a Thruster TST, as well as the ongoing restoration of an Aeronca C2. He has in excess of 11500 hours flying experience on 60+ types from long haul jets to microlights, and has over 2000 hours on tail wheel machines. As well as facilitating flying training, Nick is a time served former engineering apprentice and is very willing to assist owners with the joys (and sorrows) of owning an LAA aircraft, including maintenance tasks. He lives a few miles south of Bodmin Airfield.
