

Mr Will Garton-Jones

Co-opted Director requires ratification by the membership

Will is an experienced business executive in the UK and African Tourism and global IT Services markets, covering all aspects of outsourcing, systems integration and consultancy. He served for 10 years as a Commissioned Officer in the British Army and was trained as a consultant in accountancy by Price Waterhouse and KMPG. He is particularly interested in the ability of technology to deliver innovative and far reaching change to society, and has an excellent understanding of business issues, technology and commercial disciplines.

Will also trained as a Mechanical Engineer and has had a longstanding interest in aircraft and flying, starting with aeromodelling before moving onto microlights and gyroplanes, though in recent years his focus has been largely on gyroplanes; he is on the Council of the British Rotorcraft Association.
